Its not whether you get knocked down, its whether you get up. - Vince Lombardi

Here we are again, to celebrate the many successes which the children and the school have achieved this quarter. I am proud and honoured to be able to reiterate that the drive, passion and determination, underpinned by skill, knowledge and empathy, has seen Teaching and Learning continue to raise progress and achievement despite ever changing social, learning and emotional needs that we are confronted with.

Core areas of focus which I believe have been the catalyst to our success are: The increase in our cultural responsive practice and engagement with various activities. Student ownership of learning and the development of Environmental Education.

Inked by the Editors...

"Success comes to those who work hard and stays with those, who don't rest on the laurels of the past."

Rachael Anders once said that "journey of a lifetime starts with the turning of the pages", so here we are -ecstatic to present you a spiffing edition of our e-magazine, adding a new chapter to our school life. We here at Zydus, encourage everyone to express their creativity in every way possible. It provides a platform for students to come out of their shells and explore new horizons and doors of literature. This Kaleidoscope holds events that we had an absolute blast. As you flip through this edition you can see our students shine out in their own ways. Our tiny tots had a whirlwind of fun these months and took part in a lot of events which made us really proud. We couldn't have been happier to motivate and appreciate those who have achieved through their immense work in the fields their heart lies in. We sincerely hope that you have a good time reading this amazing concoction of thoughts and ideas. Happy reading!

IMPORTANCE OF EDUCATION AND NATION'S COMMITMENT TO ALL ASPECTS OF EDUCATION.

Life can be hard,
But it is education that sets us apart.
It is like a wave that helps us sail through with a trail of success.”

Education is a very important aspect of life. It is the factor that helps us lead our life with dignity. It is the overall development of an individual's mind, body and soul. The quality of education in a country goes a long way in telling us about its development. Education helps us figure out life and become good citizens. It is a seed which when sowed, will definitely give its fruit.

Education is the basis of employment as it trains individuals and provides them with skills necessary in work environment. Education also includes moral and ethical values and other skills such as art, craft, music, games etc. It is a topic not to be taken casually. In fact, in some developed countries like Finland, teaching profession is considered as one of the most important as well as one of the highest paid professions. Educated people are vital resources for any nation and an increase in the number of educated people will mean a better future for the country. The quality of education also plays a huge role as it is not only about bookish knowledge but also about overall development.

The nation's commitment to all aspects of education is very important. In our country the government is continuously putting in efforts to improve the education system. It has given grants to various schools and colleges, employed more and more well-trained teachers in government schools. It has also increased co-scholastic activities to ensure overall development. New sports equipment, computer labs, art classes, etc. are being arranged. Yoga is also being encouraged in schools which is important for physical fitness and well-being of children. A healthy individual is a nation's important resource. Life skills and psychology as a subject is also being given importance. The nation also recognizes students with exceptional abilities. Education for the disabled is also being improved. Adult education is an area which is also being given importance. It will help them become self-sufficient and live a life with respect and confidence. Better quality of schools means well educated youth and more skilled workforce. The government has also introduced campaigns for girls and children under 14 years to ensure compulsory and free education or education at nominal rates. Education should be easily accessible and affordable and that is the current goal of every developing nation. Keeping in mind the population of youth in our country education is very important for the bright future of our country.

Tips for Board Examinations (2018-19)

Board Examinations are just around the corner for the tenth and twelfth grades, with approximately one month left. Most of you reading this article will be quite tensed and/or worried, and I'm right there with you. I'll be sharing with you certain tips that will help you prepare for the board exams. Before sharing these tips, I shall also be demolishing some myths surrounding these examinations.

MYTHS & MISTAKES:

Skill in a particular subject is completely natural – This is a very common misconception in students. Being good or bad at a subject is often perceived to be a result of the student's heritage or genes. I won't say that it is completely false; it does play a small role. The rest, however, is totally up to YOU. Perseverance and hard work are your biggest weapons in your fight to be successful in the exams.

Multitasking is easy – No. Just, no. Multitasking during studying is not at all easy, and more often than not, it'll leave your brain with less knowledge than what you began with, and as they say, knowing nothing is better than knowing something.

Having no plan – This is perhaps the worst mistake you can make during your preparation of the exam. Without a plan of attack, you'll be left scrambling in the dark, and you will get marks WAY below your level. Make plans for your preparation, and execute them properly.

Continuing to study for hours at a stretch – Whatever you do, just do NOT study for hours and hours and hours. Do not go more than half an hour beyond your capacity. Your brain will get exhausted, and you might just lose most of the information your brain took in. Take small breaks and try to relax your mind.

Sacrificing Sleep for studying – DON'T SACRIFICE YOUR SLEEP. A sleep-deprived body cannot function properly, and your brain won't be able to retain/reproduce even the easiest bits and pieces of information. Get enough sleep, especially before the days of examinations.

TIPS:

Discover your learning style – Try out various methods of studying, don't try to just emulate your smartest acquaintance's studying style even though it does not work for you. Each brain is different, find your own way.

Take advantage of your mobile resources – Unable to understand a simple concept? Don't worry. You can always ask for help from your mates, or there are plenty of YouTube videos explaining topics ranging from Division in Maths to Division of Labour in the Human Body.

Find a good environment to study – Study in places where you are certain you will not be disturbed or distracted by anything.

Study the harder topics first – Do you find Organic Chemistry really difficult? Study it first, and don't stop till you get it.

Test yourself regularly – Are you sure you've understood that concept? Then test yourself on that topic, or get sample question papers from your reference books or from the official CBSE website. Answer those papers and iron out the smallest wrinkles in your inventory of concepts, and you might just get a hundred percent. -

Who Am I !

Am I the light, which shines so bright
Am I the trees, which stand so free
Who Am I!

Am I the day daylight, which shines with the sun
so bright
Or the night with the dark hiding the bright
Who Am I!

Am I the sadness in the wedding
Or the happiness in funerals
Who Am I!

Am I the failures of winners
Or winners of failures
Who Am I!

No one knows Who Am I,
I am just hiding in the dark,
Seeing the world go bright
I am one of a kind!

Motive

Roses are red violets are blue
I know it's hard but you'll make it through ready to hold you just in case you cry
you have so much left so much to do.
that alone's a motive for you to fight through.
and the roses are still red and the violets are still blue they will be here for a while and so should You.
